Introduction

Coding mostly complete. Run into problems. Now resolving them.

Progress summary

We got the client library up and running. There is still some functionality missing, but we are able to run some of the system tests. During testing, we ran into some problems that we will work through the weekend to fix. We believe that the prototype will be functional by monday, which is when we are going to demonstrate it to the customer.

Completed tasks

We improved the report. The client library is running. We can now run tests.

New tasks

We got some feedback from the supervisor that will improve our report. We came across some bugs in the client library that has to be resolved.
